President's message

Fall has arrived in the North County and while we have slowed our busy summer pace, the LCF and Copley House are as busy as ever. All community members are welcome to participate in our offered programs, including the most recently added Mahjongg. Programs can be found on the LCF website.

The summer gala is a memory; however, the positive energy from that night lives on. This event, remembering Billy Patterson, has helped us establish a new scholarship as well as other partnerships with Lyme Central School to better serve our local families. We are planning more community events in the upcoming months.

Please consider supporting our annual appeal. Each year the cost of bringing programs and events to the community and building and grounds maintenance increases. Your generous donations ensure the success of everything we do.

On behalf of the board, I thank you for your continued support and wish you and your families the best as we move towards the holiday seasons.

Chris Rowland

Lyme Community Foundation President

Spotlight: A Friend of the Lyme Community Foundation

The people who formed the Lyme Community Foundation had a vision of bringing our small township together as people, providing a lovely place to meet and share activities in a welcoming environment. Those of us who are transplants, like myself, appreciate being able to enjoy the company of others.

I have had the pleasure of taking part in classes, such as Yoga, flower arranging, and holiday wreath-making. Concerts on the lawn always draw me there, since I love music and love to dance. I have also attended educational presentations, like gardening tips and gatherings where we could hear our local politicians address residents and inform us of their goals. The addition of Friday's farmer's market was a regular stop for me, too. I will always support this wonderful organization financially, as well. Thank you to the dedicated board and staff who make it all happen!

Lyme Community Foundation Celebrates 25th Anniversary

The Lyme Community Foundation began in 1998 when a small group of local residents held a meeting to decide what types of services and programs might be able to be held at the Copley House, which was being donated by Georgia Borden and Robert Cox. The original idea was to open a childcare center but after a walkthrough of the building it was clear the house was in too much disrepair and could not be used to care for children. The group then decided the building could be used for art classes, dance classes, and other events for the community. The Lyme Community Foundation received their 501(c)(3) Not for Profit Status, and the rest is history. The foundation received grants and donations and the entire house has been renovated to make it what it is today.

Through the past 25 years the Copley House (Now the Lyme Community Center) has provided too many programs to include. Here are some of our most exciting events and activities:

- ★ Fashion Show with Maggie Rizer was held on the lawn of the foundation
- ★ Fall Festival began in 1998 and was held for numerous years
- ★ The lease on the house was signed in September of 1999
- ★ The Lyme Light newsletter began in 1999
- ★ A skating rink was started in the winter of 2000 and continued for many years (until the weather didn't cooperate)
- ★ ACTE II clothing store was run solely by volunteers which provided low cost clothing to the community and the money raised helped keep the lights and heat on for the foundation for many years
- ★ Foundation began offering Scholarships to Lyme students in 2000
- ★ A Copley descendent, Robert Albright, donated money to the foundation and a yearly Volunteer of the Year Award was started to honor those who have made a difference in the community
- ★ The annual Holiday House Tour was held each year and was a favorite for everyone in the community.
- ★ 5K-10 K began in May of 2000 and is still being held each year
- ★ The first Lyme Community Foundation golf tournament was held in 2000 and was held for many years
- ★ The Haunted House was held for many years. This event was a real community event that included many Lyme students and local residents and raised a large amount of money for the foundation
- ★ Lyme Central School has held their Junior Prom crowning for many years at the house
- ★ Lyme Central has held their homecoming and other events at the house
- ★ Numerous bridal and wedding showers have been held
- ★ Weddings have been held out back on the stage and others were held out front or in the house
- ★ Summer drama programs were held for many years on our stage out back
- ★ 10 Mountain Division Band has played concerts for the community at the Copley House
- ★ Dance classes for young children have been held by Cindy Babel for many years
- ★ Summer outdoor movies were held on the front lawn
- ★ Numerous art classes, exercise programs, and other programs for adults have been offered
- ★ Lymies on the Loose have been traveling around the area enjoying various events and dining at local restaurants
- ★ Office of the Aging Free Lunch Program each month is well attended
- ★ Our weekly Farmer's Market has been a hit for the community
- ★ The Copley House was recently renamed as the Lyme Community Center to demonstrate to the community that our house belongs to the entire community
- ★ Our first annual gala was recently held this fall to honor Billy Patterson and it was a huge success

There are many additional events and programs that have been offered at the Lyme Community Center over the past 25 years, but there are just too many to mention them all. We thank all of the former and current local residents who have served on the Lyme Community Foundation Board over the past 25 years. We thank the community for their continued support and we look forward to seeing what the next 25 years will bring for the Lyme Community Foundation.

Lyme Heritage Center

Analyzing our Artifacts

The Lyme Heritage Center has a fascinating collection of historical materials. Our oldest items are the Native American artifacts which have been found all around town.

On July 27th Fort Drum archaeologist Karen Koekenberg visited the Heritage Center to examine our Native American collection, which includes pottery shards, arrowheads, and various stone tools.

Ms. Koekenberg analyzed these materials using a PXRf (portable X-ray fluorescence) machine. The PXRf determines the elemental composition of artifacts, and may help determine their origins. Prior PXRf analyses have shown that some Native tools found in the North Country originated as far away as Ohio and Maine, as evidenced by the type of stone from which they were crafted. Archaeologists have used such findings to determine that a vast Native trading network existed across the northeast for centuries before European settlers arrived.

Ms. Koekenberg is still analyzing the data, but she was able to send us preliminary information on a few of the pieces. She found that most of the examined artifacts were made of Onondaga chert, which can be found throughout Northern New York. It was a common material for stone tools in the region, and it's not a surprise that several of the tools were made of this material.

However, she found that a few of the artifacts were made with more exotic materials. For example one projectile point appears to be made of Normanskill chert, which is found in southeastern New York throughout the Hudson Valley. Another stone tool was visually similar to some exotic cherts found on one of the islands near Clayton. The data showed that this object could have come from as far away as Maine.

Ms. Koekenberg notes that more detailed analysis is needed, but we're very excited by her early findings!

Lyme Central School update

Greetings to all!

Like many of you, we too are wondering where the time has gone! It has been a fantastic fall season with the changing of the leaves, cider donuts, maple syrup, and the crisp air temperatures. It is beautiful this time of year in the North Country. It won't be long before the snow will begin to fly!

At the time of this writing, our new Building Principal and Athletic Director, Mrs. Emily Remington-Burker, will be on board here at Lyme Central School. We are very excited to welcome Mrs. Remington-Burker to our school family. Mrs. Remington-Burker spent her Administrative career at Carthage Central School where she served for several years as the High School Principal. Prior to this position, she served at Carthage as Middle School Principal and as the Assistant High School Principal. Mrs. Remington-Burker taught social studies at Carthage High School prior to her career in administration. Mrs. Remington-Burker has a young son and is married to Mr. Todd Burker, Pk-12 Principal at LaFargeville Central School District.

We have many exciting events and activities happening over the next few months. Please take note that Winter sports will kick off on November 13th.

Our Drama department has announced the title for our Spring Play. This spring, our students will be performing in Beauty and the Beast, Jr. Auditions will begin October 30th through November 2nd.

Our National Honor Society inductions will take place on November 8th at 1:30PM.

Finally, our holiday concerts will be in early December. Please mark your calendars for the following dates and times:

✳️ PK-3 grade: December 5th at 6PM (snow date: December 6th)

✳️ 4th -12th grade: December 12th at 6PM (snow date: December 13th).

Enjoy the holiday season with family and friends. Best wishes for a happy and healthy New Year!

Respectfully,
Pat Gibbons, Superintendent

LCF Annual Appeal

Dear Friends and Long-Time Supporters of the Lyme Community Center:

Through 25 years of generous donor support, the Lyme Community Center has embraced a simple mission: Be a community hub that serves all ages during all seasons. But COVID sidetracked that mission for almost three years as we were unable to open the Copley House to host the programs and events that generate the revenue necessary for us to operate.

Last year we again opened the Copley House for business meetings, family reunions, receptions and school prom-related events. This summer we held a Guiding Lights Gala in memory of Billy Patterson, whose personality, empathy and hospitality were treasured by all. We also installed a new handicap ramp to ensure everyone can enjoy our programs.

We also resumed our wide slate of programs:

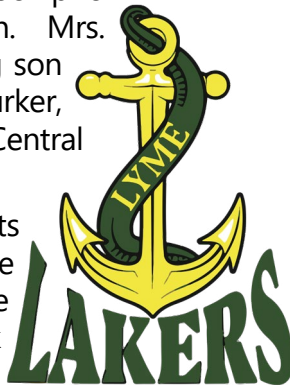

- Weekly Farmers' Market, and Yoga Fitness classes that are offered all year.
- Senior citizens lunches provided by the Office of the Aging,
- The Winter Blues Social Club that meets on Wednesdays for coffee and tea, chit-chat and games, and "Lymies on the Loose," a group that travels to fun events around the state.
- Art classes for students, and skills-sharpening programs "Winter Boot Camp" (math and reading) and "Copley Kids Club" (nature science and arts).
- Our mailed and online versions of The Lyme Light, which highlights all town, village, school and community activities.
- Our vibrant website www.lymecomunityfoundation.org that includes a calendar of upcoming events for all Lyme organizations.

We continue to partner with several organizations to help ensure their success: Lyme Performing Arts Council; Ontario Bays Initiative Land Trust; Lyme Parks and Rec; Lyme Improvement League; Chaumont-Three Mile Bay Chamber of Commerce.

So please consider renewing your financial support or making a first-time gift to the Lyme Community Center. It's the best way for all of us to join together to make our community better for another 25 years!

Thank You for your continued support!

Chris Rowland, President
